Why Train My Staff?

6 Benefits of training your employees in English

- Personalisation

The key to obtaining real benefit from training your employees is that the training covers both the real needs of your employees and the objectives determined by the company. By means of a tailor-made learning plan, you will be able to satisfy the training needs of each person, adapting it to their personal situation.

It is necessary to adapt to the level of each employee, although it is often thought that groups by department are ideal, the level of English of each employee in each section must be taken into account, speaking, grammar, written comprehension... It is the same with the schedule, it is not the same the schedule of a commercial than an administrative, it is possible that their availability does not fit to do a joint training.

- Investment in the future of the company

Today's new talents are not only looking for financial gain, but also personal satisfaction and belonging to the team, in other words, feeling valued by their company. Moreover, a company with a presence in several countries and fluent in several languages gives a more international and global image.

Employee training is a form of payment in kind that is increasingly used to satisfy employees while helping them to grow, which has a lot of resonance with the public.

- Improving the working environment

Training your employees through groups improves the working environment, makes employees interact more with their team which generates a more personal relationship, creates synergies that are reflected in the positive attitude of employees at work. If, in addition, the groups are made up of employees from different departments, you make the relationships between employees improve on a business level, it is very beneficial since many times employees do not relate beyond their team.

- Bonus for training

Another benefit of training for companies is its bonus, many times it seems to be a large outlay but thanks to funding, companies can benefit from up to 100% bonus in the training of their employees.

- Improving workers' skills

In addition to motivating employees and making them feel appreciated, employee training strengthens the skills of your team. This makes your company's employees more competent in the work environment and makes it a strength of your company against the competition.

We Help Organisations Train For Success

We work with business and organisations to help create and deliver English language courses, professional communications programmes and assessments. Our scalable training solutions are delivered online by our qualified expert.

Who Can Apply?

Our courses are suitable for professionals in different roles and at different stages of their career, as well as students, recent graduates and senior leadership.

We will work with you to understand your organisational roles, identify skills gaps and design a learning programme that suits your timeline, budget and procurement processes.

Customise Your Programme

We will create a customised programme to suit your needs in 4 stages:

Consultation: Work with us to identify skills gaps and learning goals for your organisation. (Get in touch with us for your free consultation)

Design: Let us help you create scalable, customised learning programmes with relevant, immersive training for your employees.

Delivery: Our experienced trainer will deliver your course online when you need it and how you need it.

Evaluation: We'll help you report on employee progress and training impact assessments, using our analysis and reports.

Testing and Assessments

Through our scalable, technology-enabled testing and assessments, we help our clients recruit and retain the right talent and support students to gain admission into institutions around the world, and help businesses inform and measure training decisions.
